Go Animal-Based in 7 Steps

-7-Step Return to Primal (Animal-Based Success

aster the Bas

Pick your core foods

?Stick to a base of 5–7 foods you enjoy and can prepare easily (Rotate red meat, eggs, fruit, and dairy.

Repeat meals with rhythm

HSimplicity builds consistency — and consistency builds transformation.

Wait to stack extras

zThe internet loves organ meats, raw liver shots, bone marrow, and exotic add-ons — but don’t complicate the beginning.

Salt, Fat & Honey

Keep fat on the meat

(Don’t go lean unless you have a reason

Salt every plate

Salt sharpens hydration

Use Honey

'Post-training, late-day, or mental dips

Digestion Changes

Add support if needed

Edd fermented dairy or ACV, and give your system space to recalibrate.

Recalibration

When switching from modern food to primal fuel, digestion changes — that’s part of the reset. Don’t panic if your gut talks back.

Simplify to Reset

WCut back to 3-ingredient meals when digestion feels off. Then layer complexity back in.

What’s Allowed

?"

What to EAT freely

Ruminant meat (beef, bison, lamb), eggs, raw dairy (milk, cheese, kefir), seasonal fruit (berries, bananas, dates), raw honey, high-quality salt

What to REMOVE toxic foods)

}Seed oils (canola, soybean, corn), added sugar, grains, vegetable spreads, processed bars, fake meat, anything with a barcode

Focus on fuel

kMost people sabotage themselves by obsessing over what they’re “cutting out.” Instead, flip the lens.

Identity Shift

atiety ignals

GRecognize satiety signals – Stop eating when the body says “done”

motional atin

PEnd emotional eating – Eat because it’s time, not because you’re triggered

our itual

~Eat at the same times, in the same sequence, with the same intention. Ritual reduces decision fatigue and sharpens compliance.

"Match thirst to training + output Adjust based on real demand 0. your hydration should be as real as your food.

Avoid Burnout

Double down on texture

;Cycle between ground, slow-cooked, seared, raw (if trained)

hange Cuts

HChange cuts, textures, and preparation styles within the animal kingdom.

Swap sources weekly

Repetition builds results — but monotony kills momentum. Rotate primal proteins like beef, bison, lamb, duck eggs, wild fish, and raw dairy to keep meals exciting.
